

FROM DREAMS TO REALITY

By Terri Mason

Creativity Unleashed
on the Range

The ultimate entrance to this Colorado home is framed in Western Red Cedar logs — which almost dwarf the hand-carved 11-foot front door, created by Mastercraft Cabinets. The cedar logs came from coastal B.C. The home was built by Pioneer Log Homes of B.C.

Now's the time of year to dream big – and we mean B-I-G! We have brought together some wildly creative and downright practical ranch buildings and ideas to whet your appetite for raising the bar on your home place!

Rocky Mountain High This stunning Pioneer Log Homes creation resides in the Colorado Rockies. This private luxury home features four bedrooms, four-and-a-half baths, a circular staircase, dedicated theatre, bar, office and temperature-controlled wine cellar. The third floor boasts a library and reading area. This home is 8,823 sq. ft.

Luxury in the Desert Pioneer Log Homes of Williams Lake, B.C., created this massive private stable in Arizona. The unique structure includes a porte-cochere (covered entrance) while the structure includes 12 box stalls, a feed room, wash rack, tack room, two offices and a cooling fountain out front.

Work and Play from Home

The stable and living quarters by Moose Mountain Log Homes of Cochrane, Alta., features all the amenities needed for the serious horseman with the added bonus of a gorgeous apartment and full gym in the living quarters above.

Custom rustic cabinets highlight the kitchen in the upstairs apartment

The light and airy loft is both a bedroom and sitting area

Beautiful open-beamed barn interior with box stalls